Short Bio

Laura Doman is a professional film/TV and voice actor, communication strategist, speaker, and author. She helps founders, executives, and other accomplished professionals communicate as powerfully as their expertise deserves, on camera, on stage, and in the room.

Drawing on a career in corporate sales and daily work as a performer, Laura helps clients move beyond presentation mode to connect with the people they need to reach. Her focus is on delivery that earns trust, makes ideas land, and helps win business. As she says, "Boring keeps you broke. Presence gets you paid."

Her on-camera and voice work includes projects for AAA, Equifax, Ferrero (Nutella), The Home Depot, Southern Company, Tyler Perry Studios, United Way, and USAA. She is a contributing author of The Most Amazing Marketing Book Ever and Empower Her Legacy.
